Goals & Objectives

David to retire at 60 years old in 2027.

Employ an active GROWTH strategy with a MODERATE-AGGRESSIVE risk.

(Base Allocation: 80% Stocks/20% Bonds & Cash).

Diversified Mutual Fund and Sector Portfolios.

Risk tolerance is the amount of price volatility and investment loss you are willing to withstand before changing your behavior. Risk comes in the form of market risk, security risk, financial risk, valuation risk, economic risk, currency risk, political risk, interest rate risk, inflation risk and liquidity risk. Most investors are not trained to tell an advisor their risk tolerance. At market tops, most people will say their risk tolerance is high. At market bottoms’ they will say they have no tolerance for risk. The longer your time horizon, the higher the risk you can take. Volatility is only a problem if you sell. There is long-term risk in not owning equities. Consider your need to take risk to reach your goals. How did you react in the past bear markets and corrections?

- If you have a large pension, you may be able to take on more investment risk.
- If your job earned income is very stable into your sixties, you may be able to take on more risk.
- If the investment will be passed on to heirs, you may be able to take on their level of risk.
- If you have no debt, you may be able to take on more risk.
- The more you understand the markets, the more likely you will be comfortable with more risk.

Select a portfolio type based on your goals, risk tolerance and time horizon from the table below.

PDM Investment Services will receive an asset-based fee on a quarterly basis for investment supervision and management of the Portfolio. Fees are payable on a quarterly basis after each quarter for the prior quarter.

For new clients, fees are prorated for the time the account was active within the quarter.

For existing clients, the fee percent is reviewed quarterly and adjusted to schedule based on the assets under management at the beginning of the quarter. The fee structure is not prorated for money movements during the quarter.

Money added to a portfolio during the quarter will not be prorated and will be adjusted in at the beginning of the next quarter.
